

Anti Aging and Organ Improvement in Function State

Organ Function Improvement

“Research demonstrated that the SP6 Patch worn on the ST36 acupressure point 12 hours daily over a period of 1 week produced a highly significant improvement in the physiologic functional status of the liver, pancreas, kidneys with an average statistical power > 97% and a very significant improvement in the functional status of the thyroid, intestines and hypothalamus with an average power > 87% and a significant improvement in the adrenal glands with an average statistical power > 75%.”

Anti-Aging

Regular stimulation of Kidney 1, Stomach 36 and Large Intestine 4 as being the most powerful anti-aging points on the body.

Stomach 36

Kidney 1

Large Intestine 4

Lifespan Extension by Reducing Dietary AGEs

A new paper² has now reported that putting mice on a low-AGE-containing diet not only reduced systemic AGE accumulation and RAGE levels, but also ameliorated insulin resistance and kidney dysfunction with age, as well as increasing reduced glutathione levels (a good measure of antioxidant status). Moreover, the animals on the low-AGE diet (50% lower than the controls, who received the same amount of food but prepared at a different temperature for a different length of time) also had a significant increase in median (15%) and maximum (6%) lifespan compared to the control animals.

“At the median survival for RegAGE, 75% of LowAGE mice were alive, whereas at the maximal survival level for RegAGE, 40% of LowAGE mice were alive.”

The way the researchers produced the low-AGE diet for the mice was by limiting the exposure of the food to high temperatures.

“Thus, compared with RegAGE, which is first steam-conditioned and pelleted at 70 to 75°C for 1 to 2 minutes, and then dried at 55°C for 30 minutes, LowAGE was only exposed to 80°C for 1 minute during pelleting.”

AGEs in human food can be reduced by boiling, steaming, and stewing food, instead of frying and grilling. The development of AGEs is delayed in the presence of water.

To learn more about the LifeWave Patches referred to above or to purchase some to try - please click this link or contact me via email healthymoneyvine@gmail.com and I will be delighted to assist in providing more information.