

Rawesome Foods – Article Five

The FDA claims to be assaulting raw dairy farmers at gunpoint because it needs to "protect" Americans from dangerous foods, right?

Yet at the same time, the FDA openly allows foods to be sold that contain cancer-causing sodium nitrite, obesity-promoting MSG, neuro-damaging aspartame, heart-damaging hydrogenated oils, and literally hundreds of other toxic food ingredients that the agency knows are harming and killing Americans.

Here's my story on why the FDA cares nothing about actual food safety and is only using its power to destroy natural foods that keep people healthy:

To make matters worse, even when the FDA discovers that a major drug manufacturer faked thousands of documents in order to get a drug approved by the FDA, the agency does nothing. No fraud is too big for the FDA to embrace, it seems (as long as it's a drug company committing the fraud, that is...)

I've also posted an interview with Mark McAfee from Organic Pastures, the largest raw milk producer in California. This interview reveals some astounding facts about the FDA, including the fact that the FDA is a military operation!

Today we've published a list of the five key government agents who were behind the hit, including many of their email addresses and phone numbers.

We encourage NaturalNews readers to send them email complaints, call their offices, complain to their bosses and let these government employees know that they've gone way overboard in abusing their authority in conducting these armed raids over raw milk and cheese.

I scripted this animation and did the voices for all the characters. It was tons of fun (but also a lot of work, eh?) Help spread the word and share this message of food freedom with others, please!

New evidence emerged today that proves the USDA knew that ground turkey produced by Cargill was widely contaminated with salmonella, but it remained silent and waited for someone to die before taking action and forcing a recall. This is an incredible betrayal of food safety (and an inexcusable double standard in light of recent raw milk raids.)

What we're witnessing here is evidence that the USDA wanted to see a food safety fatality because in the aftermath of such an event, it can beat the drum for more food safety funding and authority (just like the FDA). Read the details on this breaking story, which was originally covered by the Wall Street Journal:

We've got a fascinating timeline for you today: The history of FDA raids in America:

I've rewritten the famous statement of Pastor Martin Niemoller who stood up against the Nazi regime. My version begins, "First they came for the raw milk..."
