

SISEL's FuCoyDon – Intensified Nutrition from the Sea

A high-powered sea nutrient favoured by the most robust and long-lived people on earth. FuCoyDon's highly effective nutrients feed, restore and regenerate at cellular level, providing a boost for active lifestyles. *Seaweed has never tasted better!

Sisel's greatest health supplement, FuCoyDon supplies some of the body's most vital nutrition. For thousands of years, seaweed has been a staple in traditional diets. In 200 BC the first self-proclaimed Emperor of China, Shi Huangdi, sent his royal alchemist throughout the known world to find the "greatest natural medicine of perennial youth and long life". Legend has it that the alchemist returned to Shi Huangdi with a sea plant contain FUCOIDAN. Now, over 2,000 years later, scientists are rediscovering the incredible regenerative secrets of this remarkable, restorative constituent found in the seaweed, "Limu Moui".

Limu Moui is one of nature's most extraordinary foods. Its powerful constituent, fucoidan, has such an exceptional nutritive value that it has been compared to the immune supportive powers of human mother's milk. Research reports that fucoidan is made of a set of vital, complex sugars (not related to process sweeteners) that are essential for proper cellular communication.

As a food, limu moui is highly nourishing and is a contributing factor to the robust strength and vitality of the people of Tonga. A dietary seaweed called mozuku is consumed by the longest-lived people in Japan. Remarkably, these two rejuvenating plants are exactly the same! Extensive research reports that people who include nutritious seaweed as part of their traditional diets are healthier and live longer than people who don't. Evidence is mounting that many of the modern ailments that plague mankind are resulting from lack of vital nutrients. Could the answer to this problem be as simple as consuming seaweed? Our emphatic answer is, YES!

Sisel's limu moui product FuCoyDon, uses only the purest plants that are carefully harvested from the pristine waters surrounding Tonga. Until now, this amazing food was too expensive for worldwide distribution. However, through Sisel's patent-pending procedures and state-of-the-art-manufacturing facility, this great-tasting elixir is now available at an affordable cost. And unlike other companies, Sisel's innovative packing retains all three types of fucoidan molecules (U, F and G) giving you a superior product, closer to the way nature intended.

In addition to the miracle of seaweed, FuCoyDon contains a variety of high-powered juices filled with extraordinary antioxidant activity. A daily dose of FuCoyDon allows you to enjoy amazing health benefits without a fishy taste. Seaweed has never tasted as good as Sisel's greatest health supplement, FuCoyDon.

Over 1,570 clinical trials report that fucoidan has positive effects on most body systems. Fucoidan has been shown to:

- Modulate immune function*
- Support the circulatory system*
- Help stabilize blood sugars*
- Enhance liver function*
- Improve the appearance of hair and skin*
- Possess powerful antioxidants*
- Support normal cell growth*
- Contains glyconutrients necessary for added immune function*
- Activate the production of hepatocyte growth factors (HGF) that improves rejuvenation.*

*These statements have not been evaluated by the Food and Drug Administration. The product is not intended to diagnose, treat, cure or prevent any disease.

This information has been provided by:

Marilyn Vine
Independent Sisel Distributor
10146519
<https://marilynvine.sisel.net>
siselopportunity@expandingabundance.com
+61 2 44721835