

Shocking H1N1 Swine Flu Vaccine Miscarriage Stories From Pregnant Women – Tell Your Doctors That Vaccines And Pregnancy Do Not Mix!

U.S. health authorities have made pregnant women one of the highest priority groups for getting the H1N1 swine flu vaccine, but is it actually safe for pregnant women and their babies? Well, the truth is that miscarriage reports from pregnant women who have taken the H1N1 swine flu vaccine are starting to pour in from all over the nation. Vaccines and pregnancy simply do not mix safely. In fact, the package inserts for the swine flu vaccines actually say that the safety of these vaccines for pregnant women has not been established.

What you are about to read below should shock and anger you. If they are telling us that the swine flu vaccine is not safe for children under 6 months of age, then why in the world would it be safe for pregnant women and their babies? That doesn't make an ounce of sense, does it?

The following H1N1 swine flu vaccine miscarriage horror stories are from a June 2010 birth club.....

EBWashington:

I am so upset. I was so excited to be pregnant after trying for a year. As soon as I found out I was pregnant, I joined this birth club and I was due June 25th. We have two healthy boys with no history of miscarriage. Everything was going great. Last Monday, I got the H1N1 vaccine thimerosal reduced (mercury reduced for pregnant women). On Tuesday morning, I started cramping and on Wednesday I started bleeding heavily. My hcg was 50 on Wednesday and I was almost 6 weeks along so it was low. They still thought that I might be pregnant but on Friday my hcg was down to 22. I am an emotional wreck. I feel like I had a healthy baby and I caused this by getting the H1N1 vaccine. My doctors pushed it. I researched online and there have been many miscarriages after the H1N1 vaccine but they haven't been reported since it is hard to say what caused the miscarriages. I hope that I did not cause this. I wish everyone the best.

Tayla08

I don't have an answer for you, but a friend of a friend just had a miscarriage 2-3 days after getting the shot. She was 7weeks. She had no previous history of m/c... No one can answer if they're related...it hasn't been out long enough and there haven't been any studies done on pregnant women. I will tell you, that it has made up my mind on getting it...I won't and I'm not going to get it for my DD either. My daughter and I both had H1N1 last week, and although it truly sucks...I think I'll take my chances. One doctor will tell you to get it and the next will tell you not too...you have to do what's in your heart.

90707

my heart goes out to you as i recently miscarried as well and was due in june. i had a healthy heart beat at 6wks. then at 7.5 wks my son got the h1n1 mist vaccine which has live vaccine in it. the nurse said to be careful b/c it could technically spread if he rubbed his nose and touched a surface etc. the next night i miscarried and 5 days later was diagnosed with h1n1. i work from home, kids are home, hadnt been anywhere during that time. so the chances that it is all related are very high. the flu mist vaccine warns for immunocompromised patients (which includes prego) to stay away from recipients of the flu mist for 21 days.

This next set of H1N1 swine flu vaccine miscarriage horror stories is from an About.com page about miscarriage.....

Jo:

I got the flu vaccine (regular not H1N1) at 8 weeks pregnant. Three days later I miscarried. I am not going to get the H1N1.

Regrets:

I got both vaccines on Thursday. I was 9 weeks pregnant. I miscarried on Sunday. I was told by several doctors to get these vaccines. Now I wish I followed my gut feeling and not get them at ALL!

☹️:

i work in a hospital like setting and was told "the benefits outweigh the risks" 1am i got the vaccine, 3am i started bleeding and cramping, 3pm miscarried. you decide sue:

I had the H1N1 vaccination and 24 hours later had a miscarriage.

Linda Hill:

My daughter in law was 10 weeks pregnant and had the H1N1 vaccine on Friday that night she miscarried.

SoSorry:

I was so ready to get the H1N1 vaccine last week and they were only giving them to pregnant women. I was 6 weeks along and got it and the next day I started cramping and miscarried. I already had two healthy pregnancies and never miscarried or had any problems. My doctors think I am crazy to think it was the H1N1 but if no one looks into this than other women will not know. I am so sorry that I got it.

Connie:

I also received the H1N1 vaccination on October 22nd, 2009 and went into labor on October 25th, at 16 weeks pregnant and we just heard the heartbeat and everything was fine with my pregnancy on October 16th, 2009, then on October 28th my water broke then on October 29th, I delivered a stillborn baby boy, and no one can tell me why...Everyone wants to say it did not come from the shot but I believe it did. My baby was growing at the correct pace and everyone wants to brush off the vaccination. I say if you have the vaccination and suffer a miscarriage if they are able to perform an autopsy have it done.

I also agree something needs to be done and looked more into with this vaccination because most women are being advised it's just something that happens, but I also had two healthy children normal pregnancies and when I received this vaccination with my third pregnancy, my baby is gone.

sioux falls, south dakota:

I received the H1N1 vaccine on October 16th and started experiencing cramping on the 22nd. I was nearly 17 weeks pregnant and gave birth to a stillborn baby boy on the 23rd. Like many of the other women here, the first thing I suspected was the H1N1 vaccine. I immediately asked a nurse at the hospital if that would have anything to do with it. Without hesitation, she told me "absolutely not." I had reservations about getting the vaccine, but followed the advice of my long trusted family doctor. In a follow up appointment with my doctor 3 days after I lost my baby, I asked him if the vaccine would have had any adverse effects on my baby. He also said that it was not possible. I don't believe that my doctor was necessarily lying to me, he was simply following the accepted practices and opinions of his field. I do, however, believe that as a nation, we are being lied to. This vaccine is NOT safe during pregnancy. There has not been enough testing done to determine this and there are far too many "coincidences" for this to be anything but a result of a vaccine that was hastily pushed into production and distribution in an effort to stop widespread panic. I have read so many stories in defense of the vaccine that will talk about how common miscarriages are, but I would challenge you to ask ANY health care professional how common second trimester miscarriages are. My baby was doing perfect developmentally and I had felt him move earlier that day. My heart goes out to all of you out there who have had to go through the same heartache and loss that I have had in the last couple of weeks. There is no reason that any woman or family should have to go through this. Get the word out to all of the pregnant women that you know. I know that if I had heard that women had been losing their babies shortly after they received the vaccine, I would have followed my gut and not gotten it myself. Maybe then Wyatt would have had a chance at life.

Marina Rossi:

I recently got the H1N1 vaccine and miscarried 3 days later. I thought it could have been the vaccine but didnt ask. After finding this site I believe it was the vaccine. Sorry to everyone else out there who has just experienced a miscarriage.

kathy-sd:

I'm from a town of 2000 in SD, there are several women pregnant and we are all due within a few weeks of each other. Four of us got the H1N1 vaccine 2 weeks ago and one by one each of us started to have preterm contractions. We are all due in Nov and Dec so we are further along than most of the people that lost their babies. There is no way you can tell us that our preterm labor was not caused by the H1N1 vaccine. It may look like a "fluke" to some people when these women are scattered all over the country but we are talking about 4 of us in our small community. My heart goes out to all of you that lost your babies.

ashley:

Im not sure but not only myself, i know someone that withing 4 days of getting the shot we both miscarried, i was only 6 weeks and she was 4 months along, not sure if the shot caused it and cant find any other information but i am a little concerned about this coincidence.

Time Machine:

I got a flu shot in pregnancy, developed incredibly strange symptoms immediately (numb hands, feet and mouth, heart palpitations, sudden weakness in my legs, a bright red face), began bleeding and miscarried by 11 weeks. I had no idea there was mercury in most flu shots but once I found out after the fact, I was assured that I'd had the "mercury free" form. As it turned out, the shot wasn't completely mercury free and, according to the EPA website, it still had 5,000 times the limit for mercury in drinking water– not to mention a list of other toxins (MSG, formaldehyde, etc.).

I'd had no idea the shots were so dirty. I guess I'd been under the impression they were something like sterile water and a dead virus, that's it.

The strange symptoms– which I'd been told were "just pregnancy" lasted six months. No one could figure out what was wrong with me, why I couldn't make stairs, why I felt like I'd been shot with novocaine. I learned later from a book by Jane Hightower that these were all symptoms of mercury exposure. I guess I'm one of those susceptible people. No one in my family is getting the H1N1– no one even gets regular flu shots anymore, we all read labels.

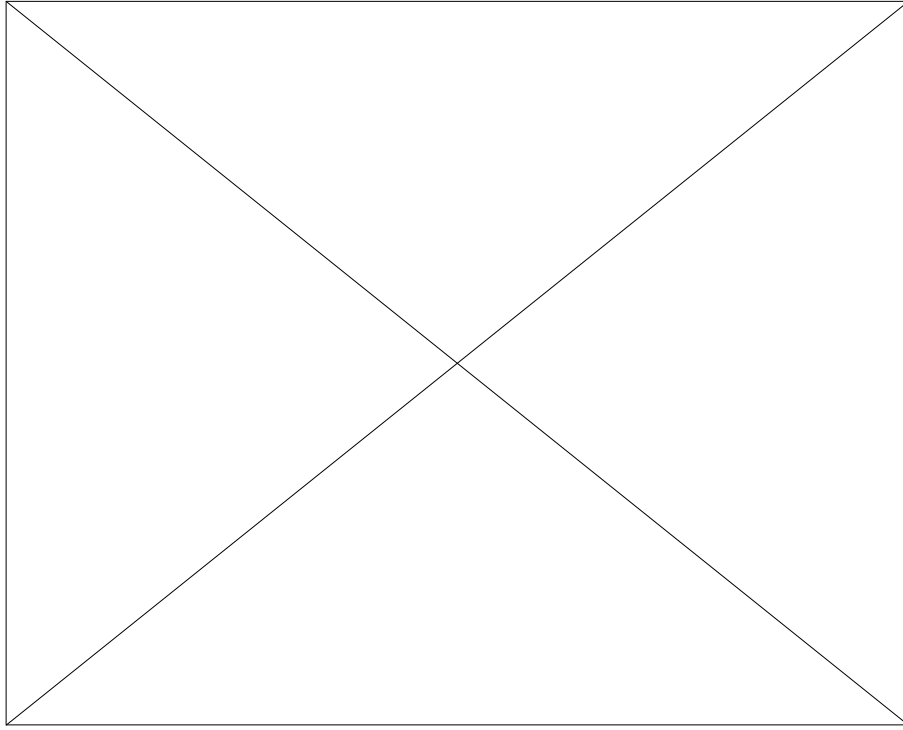

If you are a pregnant mother, please do not take the H1N1 swine flu vaccine. Instead, do everything that you can do to avoid public places and make sure to wash your hands more than you usually would. Take extra large doses of immunity building vitamins and research many of the great natural ways for fighting the flu that are out there on the Internet.

The truth is that if you do take the vaccine and then something happens, you will NOT be able to sue anyone (thanks to Congress). You will have to bear all the responsibility yourself. That doctor who kept pushing and pushing it on you will tell you that it could not have been the vaccine and that you probably would have miscarried anyway.

Do you honestly want to inject a vaccine that may contain mercury, formaldehyde, polysorbate 80 (associated with infertility), triton X100 (a strong detergent), phenoxyethanol (antifreeze) and a whole bunch of other toxic ingredients into your system when you know that your baby will absorb it too and has no defenses against most of these things?

In the very short video posted below, you will see one health expert explain to Sean Hannity that not even the swine flu vaccine package insert says that it is safe for pregnant women.....

The reality is that if you are pregnant, you need to hear what both sides have to say before ever subjecting your baby to the swine flu vaccine. You do NOT want to end up like one of the mothers above. Please help us out by sharing this information with as many people as you can. If you know of any additional H1N1 swine flu vaccine miscarriage horror stories please post them below in the comments section.

UPDATE: More Stories From Our Own Readers

AlinafromOz:

I had the normal Flu shot, and i had a misscarriage at 8wks... they told me it wasnt related pfftt yeah right and now no way in hell i would get a barely tested H1N1 vaccine..

Kayte:

My husband's pregnant coworker (5 months along) called her doctor on the day they were giving the regular flu shots at work. He said she should get it. She did, and lost her baby the next week. This enrages and sickens me that the medical industry is pushing these shots on pregnant women and children, especially the new, little-tested, experimental H1N1 vaccine!

Kevin:

I work with someone who was 4 months pregnant. Her husband got swine flu, so both she and her son got the vaccine "just to be safe." A week later, she had a miscarriage. Any supposed benefits from the vaccine are clearly outweighed by the tremendous risks.

JK:

I was in support of vaccines and was comfortable with the fact that there is a national database that records “all” vaccine reactions so they can see trends and such – which is the info I got from my doctor.

Then, my daughter had a reaction to a vaccine at 18 months old. It was horrifying to watch her body swell for three days and not be able to do anything (Benadryl slowed the swelling, but couldn't reverse it until three days had passed). I knew there were risks to vaccines, but it had seemed that the benefits outweighed the risks. I could have accepted that.

I was not prepared for the reaction of the medical community. My doctor's office refused to admit it was a reaction – even while she was swelling! They were concerned about the swelling, asked me if I knew how it started, then, when I mentioned that I suspected the vaccine they sent me home and said I was imagining things. A few hours later she had to go to the ER. Later I took her to an allergist who confirmed that it was a reaction. He told me that a lot of people react to the 3rd DTaP shot – even if they've been fine before. Still, he encouraged me to continue getting all the shots except for the last DTaP.

No one ever reported any of this to the national database.

My pediatrician pressured me to get more shots for my kids, but I refused. I've recently found out my kids' medical records falsely state that my kids DID get additional vaccines.

My daughter had been ahead on speech milestones at the time of the reaction, from that date (October) to the following July, she only learned 8 new words, and her language development froze. We've done three years of therapy now and she is in special ed.

Lynn:

My heart goes out to all who have suffered horrific events due to these vaccines. I have a beautiful 2 and 1/2 year old daughter who was born a month premature, at the time, all the health care practitioners involved in our lives strongly were pushing that she receive all the 'necessary' vaccines.... My mothers heart and gut reaction strongly said “no” but being a first time mom and feeling the pressures of our health care advisors I agreed to having her first set of shots done. Days later she developed a horrible 'chest cold' which never really cleared... she would have good days only to relapse into endless nights of trying to clear her little chest and holding her while she cried. Of course..... none of this was vaccine related. Then came time for her second set of shots... oh boy.... the stomach aches began... but our health unit would not stop calling until I made an appointment to bring her in, so, I did.... only agreeing to a select few of the vaccinations, resulting in more congestion topped with ear infections and many bouts of anti biotics. Her condition quickly spiraled downward into 2am visits to the hospital for a Ventilator because her chest was so tight each breath was a huge effort. Each doctor who saw her assured me that this was more common than I thought and that she would likely 'grow out of it'. Needless to say I will never let another vaccination needle touch her little body again. Weather our health system wants to admit it was related or not I cant help but believe that it was. Other than being small she was 100% healthy at birth and remained that way for 3 months.... until her first set of shots.

For the absolute latest on adverse H1N1 swine flu reactions, the rapidly developing mystery flu situation in Ukraine and all the other hottest breaking news, please visit and bookmark our new daily news site: The Most Important News.

Share and Enjoy:

| Tags: Swine Flu, Vaccines | Category: Swine Flu, Vaccines | 133 comments

133 comments to Shocking H1N1 Swine Flu Vaccine Miscarriage Stories From Pregnant Women – Tell Your Doctors That Vaccines And Pregnancy Do Not Mix!

« Older Comments 1 2 3

CB

November 11th, 2009 at 10:13 pm

Just as a reminder, the CDC and FDA and the producers of the H1N1 vaccine do not know what all the side effects of this vaccine are. The H1N1 vaccine was fast tracked into production and the # of individuals used in the trial studies would not give an accurate picture of what all the side effects would be. Hopefully someone is keeping track of what symptoms and/or medical issues are developing after individuals receive the vaccine.

Voodoo Lady

November 11th, 2009 at 10:38 pm

The Center for Disease Control has announced that 28% of pregnant women who have been hospitalized with H1N1 have DIED – almost 30%. THAT is why doctors are recommending the vaccine. If the mother dies, it doesn't matter what effect the vaccine has had on the baby – the baby is dead too! I just hope nobody dies due to the advice above, and then their family sues the people giving such advice.

I didn't see anything above based on any actual scientific research.

Clare Swinney

November 11th, 2009 at 11:28 pm

Ten minutes into his talk, Vaccines & Brain Development, which is at YouTube, [1] Dr Russell Blaylock addresses the matter of whether pregnant women should be vaccinated against the flu. One of the reasons they are is because it was formerly believed that infection with the flu virus during pregnancy caused an increased incidence of schizophrenia and autism in the offspring as they reached adulthood or aged.

It has since been established, using hard science, that the higher incidence of schizophrenia and autism was not due to the flu virus itself, but due to the immune cytokines generated by the mother in response to the virus, entering the baby's brain and causing abnormal brain development. Vaccination causes the same cytokine response, and the risk of developing these problems that are supposedly being avoided by vaccinating are instead increased in the order of 14-fold. "I can not think of anything more insane than vaccinating pregnant women," says Dr Blaylock.

[1] Dr Russell Blaylock: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=X9Cm94Udq6M&feature=related>

Amay

November 12th, 2009 at 12:01 am

With all that I have read and the research that I have been able to read up on, I do not trust this shot. I am not big on vaccinations to begin with. My children got chicken pox 7 times and the doctor had the (nerve?) to tell me that I should get my child vaccinated against chicken pox. OK folks, how many times are my kids going to get it and why would I deliberately inject them with the stuff? When we did vaccinations my kids always got sick from them. I didn't see the benefit in the end. My family is DEFINITELY NOT getting this H1N1 flu shot. There is no way! We have been exposed to the H1N1 virus a few times already and are not afraid of it. If it happens it happens. I am not going to inject it in my body or the body of my family.

The government and health care providers that are pushing this either have a second agenda or really stupid. Either way, it just is not going to happen in my household.

3rd worlder

November 12th, 2009 at 12:10 am

Sounds like deliberate medical malpractice for both the pharmaceutical companies and the physicians too stupid to know the difference.

Opps! I forgot. It's against the law now to sue pharmaceutical companies for vaccine induced side effects?

Welcome to Amerika!

Ms Doula

November 12th, 2009 at 12:38 am

Please don't rely on individual stories about vaccines and miscarriage. Loosing a baby is a sad but normal part of a woman's life- 1 in 5 pregnancies are lost in a normal reproductive life of a woman.

These personal stories are the lowest form of evidence on the hierarchy of ranking evidence.

Please keep it in perspective.

• CB

November 12th, 2009 at 12:44 am

The attached link will provide information on the clinical trial that was started in September.

<http://www3.niaid.nih.gov/news/QA/H1N1pregnanttrials.htm>

CB

• mrmuddle

November 12th, 2009 at 12:59 am

Voodoo Lady ... 28% of pregnant women who have been hospitalized! The key here is “who have been hospitalized”. So, let’s just say that 100 women contracted H1N1 and of those 100 women 10 ended up in the hospital with 28% of those woman who have been hospitalized dying of complications. That translates into 2.8% mortality rate. 10 out of 1000 women end up in hospital with 28% dying translates into a .28% mortality rate. So as you can see this 28% number is incredibly misleading and needs to be explained further to have true value. I would love to know what the actual numbers are: how many women on average are contracting H1N1 and how many of those women on average end up hospitalized.

• Lisa

November 12th, 2009 at 1:00 am

RE: Voodoo Lady

November 11th, 2009 at 10:38 pm

The Center for Disease Control has announced that 28% of pregnant women who have been hospitalized with H1N1 have DIED – almost 30%. THAT is why doctors are recommending the vaccine. If the mother dies, it doesn’t matter what effect the vaccine has had on the baby – the baby is dead too! I just hope nobody dies due to the advice above, and then their family sues the people giving such advice.

I didn't see anything above based on any actual scientific research.

Did you read the package insert? Actual scientific research from the company that MADE the vaccine stated that NO research was available for pregnant women and effects were unknown. The company that MADE the vaccine stated not to give to pregnant women unless in specific circumstances.

How can you argue for scientific evidence when it's there and available from the very people you obviously trust with your life?

• Rose

November 12th, 2009 at 2:41 am

I had the shot on Oct. 28th. Found out on Nov. 10th that I am pregnant. I will keep all this in mind during my pregnancy. Crossing my fingers. I am sorry for all the babies that have been lost my heart breaks for all the mommies.

• laila

November 12th, 2009 at 3:54 am so much crap on this blog, cannot believe what i read. Got the vaccine at 21 weeks still alive and baby too. and by the way, the shot as less mercury than a can of tuna and that form of mercury is eliminated by the kidney in 24 hours...(so Sherrie is not wrong and stupid as someone is saying) the mercury in the fish will get store in your body fat and just add up with time (and by the way all the food we eat get process in our digestive system and ends up in our blood stream eventually...nothing passes through except for fiber). very sorry for the ladies who have miscarried, it is an unfortunate event

• Kelly Thomas

November 12th, 2009 at 4:54 am

Baxter applied for the initial patent for the vaccine in August 2007, almost two years before the initial outbreak.

Here is a link to the patent application:

<http://www.theoneclickgroup.co.uk/documents/vaccines/Baxter%20Vaccine%20Patent%20Application.pdf>

• dolly

November 12th, 2009 at 5:03 am ladies, you must read all you can about the secrecy and lies from teh Big Pharm companies and the doctors that are not afraid to expsoe them . Vaccines have been killing peeple for years. Check out <http://www.whale.to/vaccines/mendelsohn.html>

also check out <http://www.whale.to/vaccines/deaths.html>

you will be able to click on so many sites from tehre that are highlighted and learn about the conspiracy behind this and why you shouldnt take a vaccine. you will be shocked. sorry for yor losses, as I also miscarried many times , am older now and childless, and this is why I am trying to inform women and men about this information that has been kept secret from us all.

• dolly

November 12th, 2009 at 5:05 am also ladies , including 'laila', please see www.mercola.com and also google Dr. Russell Blaylock. He is a retired Neuro Surgeon that will give you so much information about why not to take the vaccine and what is in it. You are wrong about the mercury spect Laila. Please read these sites ato get properly informed. These are doctors that are trying to expose the lies we have all been fed.

dolly

November 12th, 2009 at 5:11 am

for Mr. Muddle and Lisa, please refer to my comments above. You people have been misinformed by your own government health agencies. our governments have to sign a secrecy code with all the BIG PHARMA corps before they can sell the vaccine to them...check it out. Polands leader is a doctor by profession, and she is refusing to allow Poland to have the vaccine, as she refused to sign the form that swears her country officials to secrecy about the 20 reasons that are illegal. Yes people, this is real. Read about it at the above sites. Thank goodness for Poland that their leader is a doctor and knows her stuff and is not afraid to stand up for morals and ethics against the huge Drug Cartels and Shills of these monster drug Pharmas. you have to know where these all started and who is behind them all. so read it. you will not ever get another vaccine when you find out the truth.

Love shine

November 12th, 2009 at 7:30 am

Is wondering how many of these responses to these unborn baby's deaths, (which is obviously as a result of the vaccines) are from the people employed by the very people who planned this to happen. What goes around, does come around... i wish you luck

Love shine

November 12th, 2009 at 7:38 am

All these comments seem very intelligent. I do not imagine many people would search for this information on the web, to then leave a comment to dismiss all these highly suspect deaths as being normal, with such thought out reasons why. Anyone with intelligence can see the truth, unless you are being paid to lie?

Search Doctors

November 12th, 2009 at 8:47 am

You would have to be seriously misinformed or an idiot to inject your body with the ingredients found in these vaccines, especially if you are pregnant or nursing.

My name is

November 12th, 2009 at 9:42 am

GO TO <http://WWW.PRISONPLANET.COM> , FREE YOUR MINDS FROM THE ESTABLISHMENT!

MOST WOMEN HAVE A TENDENCY TO RESIST UNPLEASANT INFORMATION, THIS IS HOW WOMEN GET BRAINWASHED TO FOLLOW SERIAL KILLERS LIKE CHARLES MANSON. DO NOT RESIST THE TEMPTATION TO SAY THIS IS ALL HERE SAY. NOT ONLY IS THE VACCINE DEADLY, THE GOVERNMENT, THE CDC, THE FDA, & THE BASTARDS AT BAXTER & MERCK THAT PRODUCE THIS VILE IMMUNO-TOXIN KNOW FULL WELL WHAT IT IS CAPABLE OF DOING.

EDUCATE YOURSELVES & RESIST YOUR EUGENICS DRIVEN SLAVE MASTERS THAT ARE IN CONTROL OF TV, BIG PHARMA, & AN ONSLAUGHT OF PROPAGANDA DESIGNED TO DESTROY OUR SOCIETY.

- joyphine

November 12th, 2009 at 9:47 am

Listen to your own instinct....then there is no blame....if you feel these shots are bad maybe you are one of those people who will have side effects...some do notmay be later on they will or not. Anyway the flu itself is the issue for it is a cross strain thats feels man made...my opion based on research...i may be wrong..yet because of this opion i hold...NO I WILL NOT RISK IT>.I am very sorry for all mothers who are now with loss of pregancy,my heart goes out to you, if you had the shot...take loads of blood cleansing organic veg and water...build your force...STAY STRONG X

- PH

November 12th, 2009 at 9:54 am

It is outrageous. the reason they start with pregnant women and thereafter children, is that these groups will probably not be able to have children or in anyway have the chances significantly reduced. Job done, mission reduction of the population executed.... Americans read the news abroad. In ukraine, there are now over 1.3 million people with virus (not all H1N1). I am crying inside.

- Janelle

November 12th, 2009 at 10:43 am

Below is the forward to a book published in 1937 written by Annie Riley Hale...read it and then below that is the introduction to an essay written in 1868 by Dr Charles Pearce....read it and then google the title to be led to a link to get the entire essay...and then google Annie Riley Hale for the link to her book...both can be downloaded in PDF form.....and then google the book called the Drug Story written by Morris Beale former editor of the New York times in 1920...He wrote his book in 1947 ...it is an expose of where and with whom big pharma began and how the snare grew until today the world is caught in the spiders web of pharma/political deceit with money being the root of all evil and the devil in control.

Categorically...DO NOT take the vaccines...

Also go to <http://www.youtube.com/user/MichelleNye> for the greatest conspiracy of all...and then tell everyone....

MEDICAL VOODOO

Author: Annie Riley Hale

Published in 1937

FORWARD

This book issues a flat challenge to so-called "scientific immunology" and is an arraignment of the crimes committed in its name. The arraignment is based on statistical facts of record, derived mainly from medical source, and on well-authenticated medical opinion. Only the bigots and fanatics of "regular" medicine will seek to discredit the ground-work of this indictment because it is prepared by a lay research worker. Facts are Facts- regardless of who brings them.

If to some readers, the conclusions reached appear too harsh in some instances, I can only say: It is not I, but the facts that render judgment. Too many lives have already been sacrificed to a squeamish regard for the family doctor, who- if the truth were known- is in many cases also the victim of the same system of medico-political rule under which the "scientific immunology" is taking its frightful toll.

If the book shall serve no other end than bringing to the public attention the much neglected though eminent medical voices -past and present- raised in dissent and protest against the vaccine-serum method of "disease prevention," it will have supplied a long felt need. Very many persons do not even know that such dissenting voices exist: and if the matter must be settled for us solely upon medical authority, then surely it is only fair to the public having a vital interest in the settlement, to permit them to hear from all authorities.

"He who knows only his side of the argument doesn't know that very well."

This book aims to present the "other side" of the medical controversy over so-called "Preventive medicine" of those who never heard there is another side.

Annie Riley Hale

Essay on Vaccination

by

[1868 Book] Essay on Vaccination by Dr. Charles T. Pearce, M.D. 1868

London: H Bailliere 219 Regent St.

Paris, New York, Melbourne

PREFACE

Essay on the Value of Vaccination

Jenner's theory of the origin of small-pox

Dangers of vaccination

Table: Annual Death-rate in London per 100,000 living, at seven different periods during 226 years—1629 to 1864

Table: Table showing the annual mortality from smallpox in England in three periods (1838-1865)

Table: Causes of Death in England 1838-1865

Table: Mortality in proportion to one million persons living (1850-1865)

Table: Average Annual Death-rate in Sweden from all causes and at all ages (1755-1850)

Table: Deaths from Small-pox in Sweden, 1821 to 1852

Table: Mortality from Plague—1604 to 1651

APPENDIX

PROFESSOR SIMPSON ON VACCINATION

LORD ROBERT MONTAGU ON VACCINATION

Table: Causes of Death in the three years 1863-4-6

DR. LANKESTER ON VACCINATION.

Table: Proportion of Marriages, Births, and Deaths to the Population of England, in each Tear from 1838 to 1865

Table: Annual Rate of Mortality of Males and of Females in England, 1838—65

Memorial to the Privy Council 1867

PREFACE.

The author of the following essay became deeply impressed with the importance of the subject fourteen years ago, by an accident alluded to in the essay, which accident made him sceptical of the value of vaccination. As medical referee to one of the largest and most prosperous life assurance corporations, he was led to observe the apparent large mortality in vaccinated persons from what is commonly called "consumption," a great number being cut off in the flower of their age, while those, belonging to the same families, having had small-pox arrived at maturity. The very rare occurrence of phthisis in those who had had small-pox strengthened the idea which the author had conceived, that vaccination, while it prevented small-pox, increased the danger to life when the subject was overtaken by other diseases. The conclusions to which he came, from the data he collected, was, that vaccination generally was inefficiently performed; further inquiry, however, convinced him that vaccination is a crime against nature, and ought not to be enforced.

The Lancet, when the first Compulsory Vaccination Bill was before Parliament, on the 21st May, 1853, thus expressed itself on vaccination: "In the public mind, extensively, and in the profession itself, doubts are known to exist as to the efficacy and eligibility of vaccination—the failures of the operation have been numerous and discouraging."

In the London Medico-Chirurgical Review for 1825, vol. ii., page 554, Dr. G

• Rachel

November 12th, 2009 at 1:11 pm

Need to correct something here: 28% of pregnant women hospitalized for H1N1 have NOT, I repeat NOT, died. The number is 28 pregnant women have died after being hospitalized for H1N1. Total. 28 total since H1N1 broke out last spring.

I too am not a big fan of vaccines, have never done the regular flu shot, am not getting the H1N1 shot for my young kids. I wish I could say I made these decisions on sound facts but frankly it's more a of a feeling. There is not solid evidence that the vaccines are harmful. You make the decision to vaccinate or not vaccinate at your own risk.

It is absolutely devastating to have a miscarriage, my love goes to the women reporting above. It is true, though, that miscarriages are more common than most women realize. You are not getting comments from the thousands of women in the same time frame who miscarried yet did not receive the vaccine.

CB's link above is useful to balance out the story here (clinical trials of the effect of the vaccine on pregnant women):

<http://www3.niaid.nih.gov/news/QA/H1N1pregnanttrials.htm>

• mommy-to-5

November 12th, 2009 at 1:58 pm

How can you trust people that make money off of you being sick? If you actually got better the Doctors would be out of a job! There is a time and a place for medicine, but not when you are growing a baby! Most of the "problems" that women have are somehow caused by the medical system itself... If the baby is born by c-sec, goes to neonatal, has breathing or heart troubles, adhd, allergies ect. the doctors have a life-long income! They make alot more money off of you than if you deliver naturally at home, have a healthy baby and stay out of their offices as much as humanly possible. It can be done! I have 5 living children and none of us has been to a doctor for ANYTHING for 4 years. And everyone is perfect!

Trust God not the doctors. Pregnancy isn't supposed to be a life threatening disease, it is natural. I am so sorry you all misscarried. I lost a baby too a few years ago and still have a hard time sometimes. I understand. I hope you all can have more wonderful children and that you use a little medical intervention as possible!

• Unknown

November 12th, 2009 at 3:01 pm

This highlights the problems with knowing more about, pop culture and sports than you know about your own body. A little research makes it easy to determine the fallacies behind injecting someone with monkey kidneys, mercury, squalene, MSG, and other potential toxins in hopes of building antibodies to any disease. I'm not sure how that even passes the sniff test with anyone with 1/2 a brain.

The evidence for better hygiene, improved sanitation and running water decreasing diseases like, smallpox, DPT, Rubella, etc. is much stronger than any "peer reviewed" evidence that vaccines actually did anything. Besides the Amish studies helped disprove the myths behind vaccines.

<http://globalresearch.ca/index.php?context=va&aid=16014>

- corneilius

November 12th, 2009 at 5:05 pm

The same people who are pushing a one size fits-all chemical treatment for a common flu with an exotic name are responsible for the usage of psycho-tropic anti-psychotic drugs (anti-depressants) to 'manage' elderly people with dementia... to manage distressed people of all kinds....

<http://news.bbc.co.uk/1/hi/health/1693854.stm> (from 2001, though the subject made news headlines today in the UK)...

As Unknown wrote above, the evidence for better hygiene etc, plus better living/working conditions and relative wealth has more to do with improved physical health for populations – when vaccination was introduced, Europe's cities were awash with poverty, we're talking many millions of extremely poor overworked people living in dirty conditions, not by choice..... with the vaccination programs came also changes in sanitation, working practices and wealth generation... and it was the latter that made the difference....

The European 9th century plague is a case in point – it decimated cities and towns, which were mostly hovels for the poor around fortified blocks for the rich. The rural areas survived, because most peasants, once freed from Overlords, tended towards healthy practices – the result of common-sense. Gypsies and nomadic peoples survived better too. And for a long time there was peace in European fields and forests....

Today's Pharmaceuticals are like the old roman empire/church, selling snake oil for a salvation no-one has ever seen proven.

- corneilius

November 12th, 2009 at 5:09 pm

Basic common sense – the body can only metabolise what it is expecting to find within the habitat it is born into, and for which it is, by implication, designed... in that a flower is an expectation of a bug (or some pollinator or other), a human body is also a set of natural expectations. Disease arises when those expectations are not met....like wise psychological distress arises in direct proportion to the extent that natural psychological expectations are not met.

DOH!

- Sophia

November 12th, 2009 at 5:50 pm

These are the gangsters that you want to “reform” a.k.a. hijack your ENTIRE health care system? You do understand that the establishment will be able to come to your home and force vaccinations on you and your family without consent? You do understand that these gangsters will be able to dictate treatments and drugs which you MUST receive, including “mental health” services? Be prepared for a whole new world of horror stories, if you aren’t too doped up on Prozac or some other chemical cocktail to know what the heck is going on.

And as for people saying silly things like this:

“...and by the way, the shot [h]as less mercury than a can of tuna...”

There is a world of difference between eating something and shooting up with it – not to mention the fact that the chemical compounds in the two sources are not exactly the same.

- wxman2001

November 12th, 2009 at 6:22 pm

There is a very big difference from eating some fish with mercury in it, and shooting it into your bloodstream, just like there is a big difference in eating oil with squalene in it, like olive oil, and injecting it into your bloodstream. Squalene occurs in your body, mainly in the nervous system and is a necessary thing, but once you inject it, your body (white blood cells) attacks it like it does the virus cell, and learns to attack it at other sites in your body, where it is needed. This leads to some of the various nervous system disorders that can result from vaccines with squalene included.

- Sophia

November 12th, 2009 at 6:48 pm

To compare mercury in a can of tuna to mercury in a vaccine is like equating CO₂ and H₂O because the both contain oxygen. Neither performs the same function as oxygen when you inhale them, do they?

- CJ

November 12th, 2009 at 7:11 pm

I got the regular flu vaccine December 1st 2008 and was 18 weeks pregnant. Within a week I had horrible symptoms, my joints were extremely sore, numbness in my legs and arms and I really didn’t want to get off the couch for a week. Within 28 days I went into premature labor and gave birth to our son and he was dead. He was diagnosed with GBS. I am not sure if the regular flu vaccine caused it, but my gut is telling me NOT to get another flu vaccine. I am currently pregnant again at 10 weeks and 3 days and I am not going to get the h1 vaccine or the regular flu vaccine. Although, I have been diagnosed with thrombophilia (blood clotting disorder) and a increased NK Cells, maybe the vaccines feed of my condition.

My heart goes out to all the woman and husbands that have had to go through such pain.

Peace!

• Lydi Owen

November 12th, 2009 at 8:13 pm

Ms Doula,

One in five women miscarry naturally, you say? None of these women in this article miscarried naturally- they miscarried after the flu vaccine was administered to them. Get out of la-la land madam!
Midwife

• Rachel

November 12th, 2009 at 9:07 pm

I got a simple tetanus shot in April this year — my first vaccine in 25 years. A few weeks later I lost most of my hair, and I was so exhausted all the time I just wanted to sleep most of the day. My teeth got loose, I had Alzheimer's symptoms, my speech became slurred, my vision became blurred, I lost my libido, within weeks I seemed to age decades, my period became irregular and painful and then stopped entirely. Yet my blood tests all came back normal, and the doctors told me I was imagining this.

Then I developed a tumor in my left upper arm — where I had gotten the shot. Only when I found a good homoeopath I was diagnose with mercury poisoning. Normal physicians simply are not aware of the dangers of vaccines.

I wish I had gotten informed about mercury before getting the shot instead of after the damage was done. I will never ever ever ever get any vaccines again. Waking up to the truth about vaccines at the same time as this fake pandemic is being pushed, combined with the danger of mandatory vaccinations, and while watching all these women loose their babies is a nightmare every single day.